

NEWS RELEASE

July 28, 2010

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Popular author traveling from Ireland to delight Mission Viejo fans of all ages

Readers of all ages are invited to meet New York Times bestselling author Eoin Colfer in a once-in-a-lifetime experience August 5 that will feature the "Artemis Rocks!" show.

Colfer, author of the "Artemis Fowl" series, is traveling from Ireland to appear in Mission Viejo's Writers Present program, which takes place at 7 p.m. in the Sycamore Room of the Norman P. Murray Community and Senior Center, 24932 Veterans Way.

Dripping in charm and wit, Colfer, who's also a comedian, will showcase his latest book, "Artemis Fowl and the Atlantis Complex." The free program will feature guitarist Josh Fix playing a special Artemis song, followed by Colfer's hilarious monologue. The exciting performance ends with a "talk show" interview with Colfer interviewing his character, Artemis Fowl.

This event is sponsored by Disney, A Whale of a Tale Book Shoppe and the Friends of the Mission Viejo Library. Colfer will sign copies of his books purchased at the event.

For more information and reservations for this FREE event, contact the Library Reference Desk at 949-830-7100 x5105 or Whale of a Tale 949-854-8288.

###